EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR’S REPORT

The Rider-Pool Trustees reviewed 104 proposals from organizations focused on the Lehigh Valley in 2012. Overall, these fine not-for-profit agencies are working hard to fulfill their mission and serve the people of the region. We offer our compliments to them all and best wishes for the success of their work. The Trustees elected to grant funds to 85 organizations for a total CY commitment of $331,500.

The Trustees responded to these requests to address quality of life in the Valley and also reflected on broader strategic issues. During the summer, The Rider-Pool Foundation’s sister organization, The Dorothy Rider Pool Health Care Trust, conducted a series of interviews and small-group discussions with 84 civic leaders to gauge dynamics that could either help or hinder a broad health strategy, and begin an engagement process with local leadership to seek common ground.

In addition to sharing specific information about regional health challenges, these leaders overwhelmingly cited four broad issues:

1. The need for new and evolving styles of leadership and leaders in the region,
2. The need to address racial and ethnic diversity in the region,
3. The need to overcome parochialism in regional decision making, and
4. The desire to address regional challenges by “looking forward instead of backward.”

These are not health-specific challenges. They are relevant to economic development, housing, workforce development, public education improvement, public safety, and human services. These fundamental issues are central to the quality of life for the entire region. Accordingly, The Rider-Pool Foundation has challenged itself to consider ways to contribute to a broader perspective that may be of civic benefit. We would encourage dialogue around these core challenges.

Some of the ways that we could encourage a broader perspective include:

I. RAISE THE BAR FOR ACCOUNTABILITY AND RESULTS
   How can the region’s social sector be more effective? There are agencies that The Rider-Pool Foundation has funded for almost 20 years at steady state. There are few or no current benchmarks or external comparisons by which a standard can be raised. This is not the fault of the agencies. Collectively, we lack the expectation that, as a result of not-for-profit work, conditions will improve in the aggregate. The Rider-Pool Foundation has concluded that we cannot get better results from any one agency unless we have a broader conversation with many agencies, local leaders, and other foundations regarding consensus on indicators for improvement. The Promise Neighborhoods of the Lehigh Valley (PNLV) might be a way to frame that conversation on a small but replicable scale.

II. LINK COMMUNITY AND ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT
   The accelerated economic development of center city Allentown through the Neighborhood Improvement Zone (NIZ) effort is exciting and offers the best opportunity for revitalization in decades. We extend our congratulations to the public and private sector leaders who have enabled this growing success. And yet we perceive that most not-for-profit agencies have given insufficient thought to the impact that the NIZ would have on their work. Some have advanced short-term objectives with regard to job creation during the construction. However, there might be opportunity to create long-term win-win circumstances. Linking adjacent community development to the economic boon of the NIZ would seem to be a tremendous opportunity for philanthropic support in the years to come.
III. GENERATIONAL SUCCESS IN EDUCATION

There have been hard-earned successes in educational attainment at the national and regional level. The high school graduation rate in the Lehigh Valley overall is in the mid 80th percentile, and in the suburban school districts it is in the mid 90th percentile. However, in Allentown the overall high school graduation rate is 66%, with an even lower rate among Latino (61%) and African American (64%) students. This disparity will greatly hinder our success as a region unless a concerted, coordinated, and cooperative effort is employed.

Improvement in high school graduation over the next two decades will require parents, communities, and teachers to work together to:

1. Ensure that all children are healthy and ready to learn when they enter school,
2. Provide the support necessary to stay on grade level throughout school, and
3. Create realistic pathways for meaningful employment and participation in community post-education.

Policy Link and other national organizations have developed frameworks for common results needed for collective goals and action. Improving high school graduation rates is just one measurable and attainable goal that could galvanize a concerted regional effort; this would have a tremendous impact on overall quality of life in the region. Going forward, we continue to believe that the finite resources of The Rider-Pool Foundation are best used to strategically stimulate innovation and facilitate cooperative and mutually supporting programs, especially across subject areas such as education, health, and economic development. We encourage the use of Rider-Pool funds to leverage support and build sustainability. Increasingly, we believe there is a need for regional indicators of progress and improvement in education, human services, and community development.

The Rider-Pool Foundation received the first Urban Angel award presented by the Resurrected Community Development Corporation (RCDC) in November 2012. We appreciate the recognition and offer our best wishes to the staff and board of RCDC. We hope the Urban Angel awards become an annual recognition of the strength and capacity of our urban communities and simultaneously point toward improvements still to be made.

FOCUS AREAS

In 1957, Leonard Parker Pool and his wife, Dorothy Rider Pool, established The Rider-Pool Foundation as a private, general-purpose foundation and on her death in 1967, Dorothy Rider Pool left her estate as the principal funder of The Rider-Pool Foundation. Mrs. Pool was a teacher by training, an accomplished pianist and painter, and her husband’s valued business partner, instrumental in the growth and development of Air Products, one of the most successful businesses in the history of the Lehigh Valley. Like her husband, Mrs. Pool was deeply driven to help others in need. These values help shape the focus of The Rider-Pool Foundation.

The Trustees of The Rider-Pool Foundation have carried forth Dorothy Rider Pool’s wishes and are particularly sensitive to her interests in education, disadvantaged children and the development of future leadership in our society. Since the Pools resided in Allentown, Pennsylvania, the particular geographic interest of The Rider-Pool Foundation lies within the Lehigh Valley area of Pennsylvania. Consistent with Dorothy Rider Pool’s wishes and in keeping with the interests of Leonard Parker Pool and Dorothy Rider Pool in their lifetimes, The Rider-Pool Foundation’s intent is to serve as a means to improve the quality of life in the community, to build on the community’s strengths and add to its vitality, and to increase the capacity of the community to serve the needs of all its citizens. Within this objective, The Rider-Pool Foundation’s funding program is focused on:

EDUCATION
HUMAN SERVICES
CULTURE AND ART
COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT

Occasionally, The Rider-Pool Foundation will engage in other special projects to be determined at the discretion of the Trustees.

Historically, Foundation grant awards have ranged between $2,000 and $10,000. Projects are generally funded for one year, but multiyear requests may be submitted where appropriate. The overwhelming majority of this support has been within the Lehigh Valley of Pennsylvania.
COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT

Promise Neighborhoods of the Lehigh Valley
The Allentown Promise Neighborhood (APN), loosely modeled after the Harlem Children’s Zone, was created through a collaboration of Lehigh County organizations as a way to introduce a placed-based strategy effort in Allentown. The Allentown Promise Neighborhood overlaps with the Neighborhood Improvement Zone (NIZ) and the Arena Project and is therefore an important community development strategy that can enhance the NIZ downtown economic development effort.

William Allen High School Enhancement Project
The William Allen Construction Company (WACC) is a nonprofit organization started by long time Allentown advocate, and Allen High graduate, Mr. Lee Butz. The WACC is a student-run organization that combines education and career development with renovation projections to improve Allen High School.

Ideas come from the students who write the business plan, raise all the necessary resources and oversee the project that is contracted out to construction professionals. Prior projects of this extracurricular activity “club” have included design and installation of the digital sign in front of the school, refurbishment of the entrance, restoration of the original mural in the auditorium, and design and installation of weather-safe sidewalks for heavily used areas. The current project of The William Allen Construction Company is to build a bus-stop shelter for the special needs students who have to wait for busses at the end of their school day.

Eric Butz of Roberson Butz Architects is the architect for the shelter.
CULTURE AND ART

Lehigh County Historical Society

The Lehigh County Historical Society, one of the largest historical societies in America, administers seven museum sites that date from Colonial America through the Industrial Revolution. The collection encompasses more than 35,000 historical artifacts, 80,000 vintage photographs, and nearly 3 million documents. The headquarters’ museum, The Lehigh Valley Heritage Museum, houses one of the finest historical research libraries in the state of Pennsylvania and includes six galleries with more than 13,000 square feet of exhibits. The Rider-Pool Foundation has provided support for The American Revolution exhibit that explores how the American Revolution was fought on the battlefield and in the hearts of people in the Lehigh Valley and across the land.

Lehigh Valley Community Broadcasters Association (WDIY)

WDIY 88.1 FM is the Lehigh Valley’s Community Public Radio Station. In its 17th year, WDIY broadcasts 24 hours a day, seven days a week, providing news, public affairs, music, and culture and arts programming to more than 26,000 listeners each week.

WDIY is committed to creating a sustainable and engaging local public radio service that is focused on meeting community needs and dedicated to enriching the arts and cultural environment of their listening area. Community volunteers produce a variety of daily music programming reflecting the varied tastes and cultures of a diverse listener base. Partnership with local community, civic and arts organizations, plus local news coverage, makes WDIY an important informational and cultural hub for the Lehigh Valley.

EDUCATION

Hugh Moore Historical Park And Museum, Inc.
Hugh Moore Park is responsible for maintaining various locks and other canal structures, as well as 19th century industrial ruins. The National Canal Museum is the only museum in the country dedicated to telling the story of America’s historic towpath canals. The museum features hands-on exhibits that educate and entertain parents and children alike.

The Rider-Pool Foundation recently supported the STEM-based education programs (Science, Technology, Engineering and Math) for Lehigh Valley middle school students. The program, taught by experienced math and science teachers, incorporates other professionals such as a blacksmith, a geology specialist and veteran museum interpreters who reinforce the content taught in the classroom.

Judith’s Reading Room
Judith’s Reading Room, based on Bethlehem’s Southside, promotes intellectual freedom and fosters curiosity by providing custom-designed libraries to underserved communities where people, for any reason, have limited or no access to literature. The organization’s goal is to provide literacy-rich environments that represent the ideal that every person deserves access to literature that has the power to transport. With the support of The Rider-Pool Foundation, Judith’s Reading Room was able to provide a new book to many children as well as expand its “Storytime at Judith’s Reading Room” program.

ProJeCt Of Easton
ProJeCt of Easton offers programs to serve both children and adults in order to help individuals and families achieve self-sufficiency. ProJeCt’s SIZZLE! is a literacy program held each year during the summer months. The goals of SIZZLE! are to maintain or improve the academic performance of participating children and to increase parental involvement with their children’s education.

HUMAN SERVICES

Girl Scouts of Eastern Pennsylvania, Inc.

Girl Scouts of Eastern Pennsylvania is the largest girl-serving organization in Pennsylvania and builds girls with courage, confidence, and character, who make the world a better place. Girls who participate in the Girl Scout Leadership Experience (GSLE) are building specific skills, developmental assets, and attitudes that are crucial to succeeding in school and becoming strong leaders and successful women. Such skills, assets, and attitudes contribute to the achievement of short-term and intermediate leadership outcomes integral to the GSLE model.

The Rider-Pool Foundation supported the “Funded Troops” program. Girls in Funded Troops participate in fun and engaging Girl Scout Leadership Journeys that serve as the core curriculum for the GSLE.

Healing Through The Arts, Inc.

Healing Through the Arts seeks to promote the endless healing strategies that art offers. One way the organization seeks to achieve its goal is through the “Art Inspiring Healing” program, a visionary and innovative project designed to raise awareness of the significant role art can play in promoting and sustaining the healing process. Exposure to and interaction with various Expressive Arts promotes healing by decreasing pain and raising spirits — which aid in coping with depression, stress and anxiety. The “Art Inspiring Healing” project is designed to help more students create inspirational art for hospitals, healthcare networks, and treatment facilities, thereby helping to create healthier communities. The Rider-Pool Foundation supported this effort.

Mosser Village Family Center

The Mosser Village Family Center is a self-sustaining, wraparound, community-oriented support center. Mosser Village offers after school programming, tutoring, summer recreation programs, food and clothing banks, senior citizen activities, parents-as-teachers programs and anti-truancy support.

As part of a larger, comprehensive after-school programming effort, The Rider-Pool Foundation helped support a martial arts class designed to increase physical activity, build self-esteem, establish good sportsmanship, discipline and confidence.
